TO FORECLOSE THE MORTGAGE.

The Government has decided to foreclose the mortgage on the Union Pacific and Kansas Pacific railroads. As in the case of the Central Pacific there are first mortgages, which constitute a prior lien to that of the Government, on those roads. As that lien has to be satisfied by the purchasers of the roads, fears were entertained that the Government would receive, when the roads were sold under foreclosure at public auction, only a nominal sum which would not pay much more than the expenses of the sale, for its interest in the property. To provide against such a contingency Attorney General Harmon announces that an agreement has been entered into with the Reorganization Committee of the Union Pacific, by the terms of which the Government is guaranteed against a total loss of its interest. The Reorganization Committee agrees to pay the Government not less than $45,754,000 on its lien on the Union Pacific and Kansas Pacific lines. The sale will be public and the Government will receive the benefit of any higher bids up to the full amount of its claim, principal and interest. The sum of $45,000,000 has been deposited with the United States Trust Company by the Reorganization Committee as a guarantee of good faith.

If this agreement is carried out the Government will go out of the railroad business, and there is not the slightest probability that it will engage in it again for many years, if at all. The indebtedness of the bond-aided roads to the Government amounts to about $121,000,000, and if it receives one-half that amount from the foreclosure of its lien on the roads it will be in luck. There will be no more funding bills, as doubtless the Government will pursue the same course with the Central Pacific that it has with the Union Pacific. Much good is certain to result to the people of Nevada from the settlement of the bond-aided roads with the Government. Whether the Central Pacific is purchased by the present company or becomes the property of a new company, once the title is vested in that company it will, as a business proposition, encourage the development of the resources of the country tributary to the road. As it has been, with the title of the road in doubt, no effort has been made to increase the local traffic of the road by building up the country through which it runs. On the contrary, according to all reports, the policy has been to divert traffic from the Central Pacific to the Southern Pacific so as to make the central road as valueless as possible. The officials declared before the Government Commission that the central line was virtually a bridge from Reno to Ogden. A company in full possession of the road would very soon demonstrate the contrary by encouraging the development of the agricultural and mineral resources of Northern Nevada. There are millions of acres of rich agricultural lands tributary to the Central Pacific, which require only water and cultivation to make them productive. The water can be secured, by storage, and there are millions of people seeking homes who will settle upon and cultivate those lands. In almost every mountain range there are leads of gold and silver, and in many of them extensive deposits of copper, lead, iron, antimony and other ores. The deserts produce salt, sulphur, borax and other minerals which have a commercial value, and in a few years, under a liberal policy, instead of a bridge between Reno and Ogden the local traffic of the road would necessitate the running of a dozen trains a day.

RATIFICATION DELAYED.

It is becoming more evident daily that a considerable number of the Senators desire to reject the arbitration treaty negotiated by Secretary Olney, or at least to withhold ratification until the new administration comes into power.

One reason given for opposition or for delaying action on the treaty is fear of the effect its ratification would have on the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands, or Canada, or Cuba, or on the construction of the Nicaragua canal. The Senators ostensibly do not oppose the principle of arbitration, but say they do oppose its application to measures that may increase the glory and influence of the United States.

This is peculiar, indeed. The traditional policy of the United States has been one of peace with the entire world. There has been manifested little desire for extension of territory by any other than peaceable means. The conscious effort has been to avoid so far as possible the imperialism and militarism of Europe, yet, in the closing days of the nineteenth century, some Senators dare to oppose the arbitration treaty, one of the most illustrious achievements of the century, on the ground that it might interfere with the policy of aggression and greed for empire on the part of this nation. The issue could not be more strikingly presented, nor the length to which the jingo Senators think they have taken this country in retrogression from the historic policy better exemplified. It is questionable if the United States wants Hawaii or Cuba under any circumstances, and certainly not at the price of war. There should be no desire for the annexation of Canada by other than peaceable means. The pretended fear that ratification of the treaty might interfere in some way with the construction of the Nicaragua canal is mere nonsense.

The lower house of the California Legislature has devoted most of the week in investigating the charges against Chief Clerk Duckworth. On Friday evening Chairman Vosburg of the committee on attaches presented a report which the clerk proceeded to read. Duckworth asked to be heard in his own half, but objections were made that such a proceeding was unprecedented and could not be allowed. Friends of Duckworth insisted that he should be allowed to speak, arguing if the clerk was guilty there were members on the floor as guilty as he. Duckworth subsequently withdrew his request and proceeded with the reading, when suddenly he began to totter and throwing both hands to his face would have fallen had he not been assisted to a seat. The scene was dramatic and exciting and it is thought that Duckworth has the best of the situation. The whole affair is one of the worst legislative scandals that has ever occurred in California.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Saturday's Session of the Senate—The Loud Postal Bill.

WASHINGTON, January 23.—Saturday sessions of the Senate are so unusual that there was a very meagre attendance at the opening of the session to-day. An agreement was reached at the outset that after 11:30 the day would be given to private pension bills and other minor bills on the calendar.

Allen of Nebraska secured the adoption of the following resolution: Resolved, That the Attorney General be and he is hereby directed to inform the Senate whether he entered into an agreement or stipulation with what is commonly known as the Reorganization Committee of the Union Pacific railroad respecting the foreclosure of the Government lien thereon, and the amount, if any such agreement or stipulation has been made, said Reorganization Committee is to bid on the foreclosure of said liens, and also send to the Senate the full text of such agreement or stipulation, together with the names of the persons comprising the Reorganization Committee, as well as the authority he may have for beginning such foreclosure proceedings or entering into any such agreement or stipulation.

The Senate then passed a number of bills including the following: To refund to Ames and Detrick of San Francisco, drawbacks on grain bags exported in 1892; appropriating $15,000 for the heirs of the Italians killed by mob violence at Watsonburg, Cal., in March, 1895; granting a life-saving medal to Daniel E. Lynn of Port Huron, Michigan.

Morgan of Alabama presented a resolution requesting the President for all correspondence relating to the Nicaragua Canal since 1887, between the United States and any minister or representative of Nicaragua. Resolution adopted.

The Senate passed the bill re-classifying the salaries of railway postal clerks. The classes are from one to ten and the pay from $800 to $1,000.

Committee Work.

The Senate Committee on Postoffices and Postroads resumed the hearing on the Loud second-class mail bill to-day. O. J. Victor, Chairman of the New York committee of publishers, said the bill was to the interest of the express companies and opposed to the interest of the public, which demands good and cheap literature. Victor called attention to the large amount of Government matter carried free, which would, he said, go far toward accounting for the Postoffice Department deficit, and created a general laugh at the expense of the committee by reading a newspaper extra characterizing the most of the matter as "Congressional buncombe."

John Elderkin of the New York Ledger claimed that under the proposed law such papers as the Ledger would be excluded from the privilege of being entered as second-class mail matter.

S. S. McClure addressed himself especially to Senator Chandler's proposed amendments relating to distribution through news agencies. It would have the effect, he said, of requiring publishers of magazines to organize their own system of distribution, and thus both increase the cost as well as decrease the circulation of their publications. Any addition to the cost would render it impossible to publish ten-cent magazines. To advance the price of magazines to fifteen cents would be to cut the circulation in half.

Chandler said he did not propose to press his amendment. J. S. Ogilvy denied the assertion made at the meeting last Saturday that some of his publications were indecent. He asserted that the Government was under an implied contract with publishers to maintain the present rates.

Yates Hickey of the American Railway Literary Association favored the bill. David Williams, proprietor of the New York Iron Age, submitted a written argument in favor of the bill. Senator Chandler said the hearings would close next Saturday.

Senatorial Contests.

SALT LAKE, January 23.—The Legislature took three ballots for Senator and then took a recess to 2:30 p. m. The balloting showed no material change. The result on the first ballot was: Thatcher 23, Henderson 1, Rawlins 15, Powers 1, Lawrence 1, Bennett 3. OLYMPIA, Wash., January 23.—The first joint ballot to-day for United States Senator resulted as follows: Denny 33, Turner 24, Squires 6, Chase 34, Winsor 7, scattering 3, absent 8.

BOISE, Idaho, January 23.—Senator Jones, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, to-day sent a telegram to Secretary Walsh in Idaho saying in strongest terms that party expediency demanded that the Democrats of the Idaho Legislature vote for Dabois.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

Ex-Chairman Carter of the Republican national committee and Senator Wilson of Spokane, Wash., were callers on Major McKinley yesterday.

The steamship Badsworth, which went ashore January 18th off Beach Haven, N. J., was hauled off by wrecking tugs last night and proceeded to New York in tow.

The ministerial trial of Rev. B. A. Morley at Lyons, Iowa, ex-President of the Northern Illinois College, has ended. Morley was found guilty of conduct unbecoming a minister.

The American schooner Laura Mack was discovered ashore at Little Harbor near Shelburne, N. S., yesterday morning. She had a cargo of frozen herring. There is no tidings of the crew.

The registered package containing $3,600, whose theft was announced at Denver yesterday, was consigned by a firm in Cheyenne to Chicago, and was not en-route from San Francisco to Denver as reported.

The British brig Electric Light, which sailed from Stapleton, Long Island, Tuesday with a mutinous crew for Rio Grande de Sul, was compelled to anchor at Sandy Hook bay yesterday, when she shipped a new crew.

One of the most disastrous fires that has ever visited the business portion of Sandusky, Ohio, occurred yesterday morning, destroying about $100,000 worth of property. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin.

A woman who registered at the Palmer House, Chicago, as Mrs. A. B. Holman of Omaha, but whose real name appears to be Mrs. John M. Gordon, died Friday under circumstances that point either to malpractice or self-destruction. She was about 40 years old.

Attorney General Harmon of Omaha yesterday through special counsel filed a bill calling for the foreclosure of the Government's second mortgage on the Union Pacific main line from Omaha to Ogden, and on the Kansas Pacific from Kansas City to Denver. The defendants have until the first Monday in March in which to file an answer.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE IN COLORADO.

What Prominent Citizens of That State Say on the Subject.

The following is from the Woman's Column, a paper published in the interest of the equal suffrage question:
"Because false rumors are circulating in other States concerning the results of equal suffrage in Colorado, the friends of the cause desire to present a truthful and unprejudiced statement of fact. The signatures of men and women who have official recognition are appended to this statement, in order that the office may give weight when names are unknown. The signatures include prominent society women, as well as those distinguished in intellectual and philanthropic work. The list might be indefinitely prolonged were more than a representative number possible.
"We, citizens of the State of Colorado, desire, as lovers of truth and justice, to give our testimony to the value of equal suffrage.
"We believe that the greatest good of the home, the state and the nation is advanced through the operation of equal suffrage. The evils predicted have not come to pass. The benefits claimed for it have been secured, or are in process of development. A very large proportion of Colorado women have conscientiously accepted their responsibility as citizens. In 1894 more than half the total vote for Governor was cast by women. Between 85 and 90 percent of the women of the State voted at that time. The exact vote of the last election has not yet been estimated, but there is reason to believe that the proportional vote of women was as large as in previous years.
"The vote of good women, like that of good men, is involved in the evils resulting from the abuse of our present political system; but the vote of women is noticeably more conscientious than that of men, and will be an important factor in bringing about a much better order."
The above statement is signed by the leading men and women of Colorado, among whom are many whose judgment has never been questioned. Lack of space forbids the publication of the list.

A Mining Accident.

William Burns met with an accident at the Savage mine Friday afternoon which caused his death. He and his partner, Dennis Sullivan, had been timbering on the 500-foot level, and, having finished their work, they placed some plank on the cage, and, getting aboard themselves, gave the signal to hoist.

When at about the 300-foot level one of the planks toppled over against the side of the shaft, where it caught, knocking Burns off the cage on one side, and Sullivan against the side on the other. Burns was thrown in such a manner that the cage caught him, crushed him and passed over him, but he caught the frame of the cage with one hand, and clung to it.

The engineer noticed the cable slack and jerk, and immediately stopped the cage, and Sullivan heard Burns calling from under the cage for assistance. Sullivan held him on the cage until the surface was reached.

Physicians were summoned, but they found there was no hope for the injured man, and he died in the evening after several hours of intense suffering.

Swen Hedin, the Norwegian Traveler.

Swen Hedin, the Norwegian traveler, has discovered on the north side of the Kuen Lun mountains, and in the edge of the great desert of Gobi, the ruins of towns which he thinks were buried by sand storms about 1,000 years ago. The largest town was nearly 2½ miles long, and a canal connected it, and the surrounding country with the Keria river. The houses had walls of plastered reeds, covered with mud and then coated with white plaster, and on these plaster walls were well executed paintings of men, animals and flowers. Poplars, apricots and plum trees had evidently flourished there before the invasion of the sand.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Climbing.

Selfish ambition may help us to climb to the point where we may be seen, but it never aids us in climbing to where we can see. The higher a man gets in the world in pursuit of selfish aims the narrower his field of vision becomes. The higher he gets in the pursuit of unselfish aims the further he can see around him. It matters little whether we climb in life if we do not climb toward a higher point of vision.—Sunday School Times.

WHY IT WAS HOT.

The Hash Epitaph's Initial Experience with a Chafing Dish.

"I had heard of chafing dishes for years," said Smiley Williams, "but the one I saw for the first time flooded me completely."

"I never thought much about the chafing dish, but somehow I supposed it was some sort of concern that rubbed together and mashed things."

"The other night, though, Bolton and I went into a Madison street restaurant for dinner. You know I always have a smothering liking for hash of any kind, and so does Bolton. Bolton ordered turkey hash for two, and the waiter brought it on in a small sort of silver dish nearly as tall as a cake basket. It had a tight cover, and when we opened it it steamed like a 40 horsepower boiler blowing off."

"I loaded up Bolton's plate, and in the first place at it he took the skin off his tongue, it was so hot."

"Just like these infernal places," Bolton growled. "Anything you've got to eat is blistering hot, while coffee is always stone cold."

"After while Bolton took some more hash and burned his tongue again."

"Holy Moses," he said, "what's got into that hash?"

"I told him nobody was expected to know anything about restaurant hash, especially the fellow who was eating it, but he wasn't satisfied."

"Well, we kept on eating hash until we had enough. And do you know that hash left in the dish was hotter than it was at the start?"

"Well," said Bolton, "I wouldn't have believed my eyes, but with most of the skin off my tongue I've got to give it up." Then he called the waiter.

"Say," he said, in a low tone, "I'll give you a dollar if you'll tell me what in blazes is the matter with that hash."

"Beg pardon, sah?"

"What keeps that hash so all fired hot?"

"Why, sah, that's a chafing dish, sah!"

"That's how I found out that a chafing dish is a silver fruit stand with a fire built under it."—Chicago Record.

SPEAKING TO THE DEAF.

A Mistake Is Often Made In Trying to Enunciate Very Plainly.

Many people, and I am sorry to say some teachers of the deaf, fail to realize—in practice at least—that speech is not as clearly visible to the eye as it is audible to the ear, and think that by speaking slowly, word by word, and opening their mouths to the widest extent, they will render the task of the speech reader easier. As a matter of fact they render it all the more difficult. A child in school may learn to understand a teacher who mouths his words in this manner, but this ability is of no value to him when he leaves school. Indeed perfectly natural, deliberate speech is easier to understand than the exaggerated form of articulation which people are apt to use the moment they know they are talking to a totally deaf person.

People who depend entirely upon their speech reading for understanding others have requested me, when introducing them to strangers, not to say that they were deaf, because they find it easier to read the lips when the person speaking is not aware that he is being understood in that way. I have in my acquaintance a young man educated wholly by this method who travels a great deal and picks up acquaintances on the steamer or on the train just as people do who possess all their faculties. I like to mind also a congenitally deaf girl of 14 who is not considered unusually bright, yet whose speech is clearly intelligible to strangers after the first ten minutes, who is intelligent on the topics of the day, and whose larger and more conversational repertory is much larger and more entertaining than that of many young ladies of 20 and over that I have met in metropolitan society.—John Dutton Wright in Century.

The Captain Told Him.

An Englishman, touring through America, went on board a steamer late one night and on the following morning, after walking on deck and looking around him, he stepped up to the captain and asked, "I beg your pardon, but would you kindly tell me what lake I'm on?"

"The Lake Huron," replied the captain and turned away.

The Englishman looked puzzled for a moment, and then, following the captain, began again, "I beg your pardon, you said—"

"It's the Lake Huron," roared the captain, thinking the man was deaf.

"Yes, I know," persisted the passenger, "but what's the name of the lake that I'm on?"

"The Lake Huron!" shouted the captain, incensed at what he thought gross stupidity, and the steamer away to relieve himself by sailing at one of the lands. The Englishman looked more puzzled than ever.

"The lake you're on is the lake you're on," of course it is. The lake I'm on can't help being the lake I'm on. What I want to know is, what's the name of the lake that I'm on? Perhaps that will tell me."

It did tell him, and then the humor of the situation suddenly dawned upon him.—London Tit-Bits.

To Keep Oranges Fresh.

To keep oranges or lemons fresh for any length of time select firm ones, wrap each one in soft paper, put it in a glass jar with white sand that has been previously dried in the oven around each orange and with a thick layer over the top.

The wheat fly is said to have been nearly as destructive to the wheat crops of this country as the Hessian fly.

They Are an Aid in Diagnosis of Diseases and Treat.

It is said that the moon at the base of the nail is simply an indication of good health and excellent circulation, while the white spots are always the accompaniment of an impaired nervous system. The common idea that an external application of vaseline will cure the white spots is erroneous, and those afflicted with the little "story tellers" would far better turn their attention to securing perfect physical health, in the assurance that the spots will disappear with improved circulation.

It is not possible to create moons at the base of the nails. Frequently the moon is there, but through negligence it is covered by skin, which, without attention, will grow upward over the base of the nail.

It is not generally understood that the shape and appearance of the finger nails are carefully considered and form an important factor in the diagnosis of disease. Long nails are said to indicate physical weakness and tendency to lung trouble, and this tendency is exaggerated where the nails are corrugated and yet more aggravated if they curve from the top back to the finger and across. Where the nails are long and blunt they indicate bad circulation. Thin, same type of nail, but shorter, denotes tendency to throat affection, bronchitis and the like. Short, small nails indicate heart disease. Where they are short, flat and smug, you may look for nervous disorders. The short, middle woman will criticize her friends and herself, but she will criticize herself with the same severity. She is apt to be nervous and sometimes so quick to remember back the wrongs almost fatal. The sick disposition, and literary critics possess this type of nail.—Exchange.
